Hakim Ziyech
FIFA World Cup 2022

Hakim Ziyech was one of the most influential players on the pitch when Morocco had the ball during the 2022 World Cup. He led the squad in progressive passes attempted and passes into the penalty area attempted during the tournament. Despite the plays where the forward could not find a teammate, he was constantly trying to bring his team to dangerous positions

Ziyech's pass maps demonstrate how much more he played on the right side than on the left. This becomes more evident looking at his progressive passes. It is also visible how frequently he tries to find teammates near the touchline. Usually they are on the right wing, but Ziyech also attempts to switch the side of the play in some moments, especially when he is near the midfield

From the visualizations presented on the previous pages, it's noticeable that a good amount of his passes are intended for a teammate positioned in the right wide area, near the goal line. But the graphic below (which excludes corner kicks) indicates that most of his passes into the penalty area are crosses that have their starting point some steps farther from the corner flag

	PASSES INTO THE PENALTY AREA PLAYER | TEAM | % IN TEAM TOTAL
1 - K. DE BRUYNE	21 | 68 | 30.88%
2 - D. TADIC	22 | 78 | 28.20%

Taking a closer look at Ziyech's attempts into the penalty area, we can see two relevant trends. Most of the passes went above shoulder level at peak height, probably intending to find a headed shot. Besides that, the left foot is his preferred one, which likely explains why he doesn't often carry the ball toward the goal line and immediately try a cross from the right wing
